ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method of analyzing an electronic text document using a knowledge bank. The knowledge bank is formed of a plurality of lexicons. The analysis is conducted by defining for each of the lexicons an associated subject header and then defining a list of word terms having a logical relationship with the subject header. The document is then analyzed using the plurality of lexicons.